NYPIRG Statement on the Trump Administration's Move to Repeal the Clean Power Plan

Ignoring the science of climate change doesn't mean it will go away. The Trump Administration's shameful position – if enacted – will result in the unnecessary suffering of millions of Americans, not to mention the impacts on frontline communities worldwide. Asking the industry to come up with an alternative, after it was the fossil fuel industry that deceived the American public on the role of fossil fuels in warming the planet, is worse than leaving the fox to guard the chicken coop.
